CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS
> 1 NOVEMBER

Worldwide Napier is a magazine designed by Edinburgh Napier University to encourage language students to encourage language studies, available in digital and hard copy format, in which, twice a year, you will find a set of articles in French, German and Spanish on a specific theme.

At Edinburgh Napier University, we do believe that understanding other cultures, their differences and their common points is the very start to making this world a much better place, especially in the current political context. That is the reason why, as well as languages (English as a Foreign Language, French, German, Chinese and Spanish), we teach interculturality, because this world, maybe more than ever, needs mutual comprehension.

In this spirit, we have been offering a space for articles from students from other institutions whether they are from secondary schools, colleges or other universities. For instance, the next issue will be in partnership with the Language Acts and Worldmaking initiative and the City of Edinburgh: our students will go to Edinburgh secondary schools helping senior pupils to write articles based on current issues associated with languages.

We would be honoured to see your students part of our team enabling them to have a voice in a friendly space where opinions, experiences and stories can be shared by all. We want to be recognised as a university that acts with respect and integrity and creates an environment where everyone involved feels proud, confident, challenged and supported. Showcasing students' work is part of this vision. It is inclusive, ambitious, innovative and professional.

Our call for submission for issue 4 will follow soon. In the meantime, if you are interested or want to know more, please do not hesitate to contact me at s.blanche@napier.ac.uk

We look forward to having you on board!
