

Thinking about continuing with languages when you leave school?

Bonjour

Languages are important to employers! The majority of UK businesses (65%) value staff with language skills to help build relations with clients, customers and suppliers.

Languages can help your career! The UK needs more people who can add languages to their CV skill-set, regardless of their specialism.

A little language can go a long way! You don't have to be fluent, but the ability to hold a conversation and appreciate another culture is of real business value in the workplace.

NOT CONVINCED?

Why not check out the Beyond School section of our website?

There's lots of information on...
